
Randell Cottage Writers Trust
invites you to

A Study in Contrasts: writers Hinemoana Baker
and Julien Blanc-Gras

6 - 7pm, Thursday 21 November
National Library Auditorium, Wellington

Performer and poet Hinemoana Baker is the current writer in residence, working on a collection of poems of despair and desperation called 'Exhaust World.' In conversation with trustee Francis Cooke, Hinemoana will share the influences behind her works.

French writer Julien Blanc-Gras and his family spent early 2024 in Randell Cottage, following the completion of 'Bungalow', Julien's quirky record of travels in Asia, just awarded an annual 'feel-good' prize in Paris. Eric Soulier, French Cultural Counsellor, will introduce Julien's video interview.

Light refreshments will be served beforehand, from 5.15pm.
Koha (suggest $5 pp) would be appreciated.
Please bring cash for book raffles and cards.

RSVP: info@randellcottage.co.nz by 5.30pm, 19 November.
A Zoom link will be available.
